

MORE THAN TWO BILLIONS REMAIN IN U. S. WORK RELIEF FUND

BIG BALANCE IS SEEN AT YEAR'S END

WASHINGTON, April 20. (AP)—A treasury report disclosed today that more than $2,000,000,000 remained in the $4,880,000,000 work relief fund at the end of the third quarter of this fiscal year, March 31.

Total expenditures up to that time were $2,515,082,158. During the first three months of this calendar year $843,000,000 of the relief money was spent.

The same rate of expenditure for the next three months would leave a balance of $1,218,000,000 at the end of the fiscal year, or considerably more than estimated by President Roosevelt in his message asking for next year's appropriation.

In asking for $1,500,000,000 for next year, the chief executive estimated that $1,000,000,000 would be left from this year's fund.

The treasury report was the first detailed accounting of the gigantic fund since the first of the year. It was prepared for the use of congress in considering next year's appropriation.

Composed of 228 pages of detailed figures on expenditures, the treasury report disclosed that the cost of administering the work relief program had passed the $100,000,000 mark. By March 31, administrative expenses amounted to $107,195,846.

Direct grants by the old Federal Emergency Relief administration still accounted for the biggest single item of expenditures, $919,000,000. The Works Progress administration, under Harry L. Hopkins, had spent $750,000,000.

The Civilian Conservation Corps had used $445,000,000; the resettlement administration, $68,000,000; the Public Works administration, $57,000,000, and the executive departments, $237,000,000.

MORE ABOUT ADDIS ABABA

Led by Gen. Rodolfo Graziana, the southern army, reports from Mogadiscio, Italian Somaliland, said, culminated in a four-day battle last week near Bircut in which the natives abandoned about 1000 dead.

Captain Del Valle, a Cuban attached to the Ethiopian army in the north, who reached the capital yesterday in a torn, begrimed uniform, declared:

"If the Italians take the capital, it does not mean the end. We'll fall back to the hills and fight as long as the emperor remains in the field."

A rush began on the Bank of Ethiopia, which is under the management of British officials. Fresh native troops from remote provinces moved into the north to reinforce Haile Selassie's retreating forces while Crown Prince Asfa Wosani rallied his men south of Dessye, which they evacuated last week just before the Italian occupation.

All able-bodied men, even those working for Europeans, who were formerly exempted from service, were declared under compulsion to help defend the empire.

The Ethiopian young men's association began distributing arms to all men, women and boys alike who asked for them. The men were called upon to go to the front, while the women remained behind to help guard the capital.

A removal of the seat of the government from Addis Ababa to a more remote spot was believed to have been discussed in a secret meeting of imperial chieftains and officials.

FLOOD BILL LAND POLICY IN AIR

The senate policy for handling land and damage costs involved in the huge omnibus flood control bill now under consideration, which includes an Orange county water project costing $13,000,000, was left up in the air today through action by the senate commerce committee.

Dispatches from Washington indicated that the senate committee's position on this question has been shifting back and forth. The Associated Press reported that, "Backtracking earlier action, the senate commerce committee voted 10 to 5 today to reconsider its decision to have the government pay all land and damage costs involved in the omnibus flood control bill."

This was taken to mean that the final decision may go either way. The Orange county program under consideration is believed to be the same as in the Elliott plan, calling for a dam on the Santa Ana river at Prado, and on other streams in the county.

OPTION HOLDER ARGUES FOR FAIRVIEW PRISON SITE

Mark Potter, Pomona real estate man, today gave to The Journal a statement of his views of the Costa Mesa prison site. Mr. Potter has been interested in legislation regarding a prison site in Southern California for many years, and he assisted in getting the present bill passed.

Mr. Potter is well known in state Republican circles and was one of the first supporters of Governor Merriam's gubernatorial campaign. Mr. Potter holds the options on the land involved near Costa Mesa. His statement follows:

"Twenty years ago the legislature attempted to pass a bill to establish a Southern California prison. Ten years ago an appropriation was authorized for the purpose of purchasing a site for a first offenders' prison in Southern California. Those who were to purchase that site could not agree among themselves where to spend the money. That project never materialized.

"Governor Merriam, on account of his long experience in state government, knows the great need for additional prison facilities. Sixty per cent of the prison population comes from the southern part of California. It costs the state about one-quarter of a million dollars each biennial to transport the prisoners back and forth, including the fees paid to the deputy sheriffs who act as guards.

"Prisons Overcrowded
The present prisons are terribly overcrowded. Four or five men are confined in one cell that was originally intended to house but two. Men are herded together like cattle. Hardened criminals are placed in close confinement with young first offenders. San Quentin is known as a school for crime. On account of this crowded condition the prison officials are compelled to parole large numbers of men who should not be at liberty, in order to make room for incoming prisoners.

"It is clearly the duty of the good citizens of California to provide for the segregation of first offenders and the milder type of prisoners from the confirmed criminals.

"The governor in his first message to the legislature requested that provision be made for a new institution in Southern California to take care of this dire need.

"Committee of Five
The bill, which was passed, created a committee of five, consisting of Lieutenant Governor George Hatfield, Speaker Ted Craig, Chairman of the Prison Board, Judge T. N. Harvey, and two others to be appointed by the governor, (they are Peter Hanson, an expert appraiser known throughout the United States as an authority on land and its values, and the state director of finance, Arlin E. Stockberger, who is also the chairman of the prison site committee) whose duty it is to select and purchase a suitable site in Southern California for the establishment of a prison farm. The act provides as follows: 'Section 16—It is the purpose of this act to provide for segregation from hardened criminals of offenders of a mild type, without regard to their age who, in the opinion of the board of prison directors seem capable of world rehabilitation and restoration to good citizenship.'

"The proposed prison farm will be somewhat on the order of the California Junior Republic now located at Chico, with this difference: the Fairview farm will be supported by the state of California instead of by charitable donations, and it will accommodate hundreds instead of dozens.

"Forecasts Showplace
"With adequate financing a showplace will be developed, beautifully parked, with subtropical gardens, fancy stock, etc. It will also have facilities for drying, canning and curing of all food products that can be produced on the location. There are approximately 25,000 people confined in state institutions, who are fed at state expense, who will use this food.

Claim This Dog Bit a Bank

When a dog bites a bank, that's news.

One of the allegations in the complaint for relief filed in superior court today by the First National Bank of Fullerton against Mr. and Mrs. Arthur O. Ackerman, and Mrs. Ackerman's sister, Annette Tombs, is to the effect that when representatives of the bank attempted to call at the Ackerman ranch home on trust-estate matters they were set upon by dogs and chased from the property.

The suit is being brought by the bank under terms of a trust estate created by Mary O. Tombs before her death in 1932. The trust consists of a 40-acre orange grove a mile north of Placentia, a 10-acre grove a mile north of that, Los Angeles property, and personal property amounting to $18,000.

Under terms of the trust, of which the bank was named trustee, three-quarters of the estate is to go to Mrs. Ackerman, and one-fourth to Mrs. Tombs.

The complaint states that the Ackermans insist on the right to occupy the ranch site, and operate it without consent or advice of the trustee; that they dug up and burned two and one-half acres of Valencia oranges, replacing them with navels, that they plan to withdraw from the Placentia Orange Growers association and join the Villa Park association, which the bank deems inadvisable, and that they keep vicious dogs to chase people from the property.

CHECK FORGERY SUSPECT NABBED

According to Assistant Chief of Police Harry Fink, the defendant assertedly forged an SERRA check for $11.68.

FIVE INJURED IN COUNTY CRASHES

Traffic accidents on Orange county highways this week-end resulted in injury to five persons. Two men were arrested on charges of drunk driving as a result of accidents.

LeRoy H. Robinson, 41, and Mrs. Violet Robinson, 40, both of 604 North Batavia street, Orange, were seriously injured at 5:45 a. m. yesterday when their car left the road and crashed into an Edison company pole. The accident occurred on Goldenwest road, one mile south of Westminster, as Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were enroute to their home in Orange from Newport Beach. According to California Highway Patrolman Ben Craig, Mrs. Robinson, who was driving the car, fell asleep at the wheel. Both were given first aid in Westminster and then rushed to St. Joseph's hospital.

Woman Badly Hurt

Mrs. Edith Cocks, 55, Long Beach, sustained severe injuries at 6 p. m. yesterday when her husband, in attempting to avoid a collision with another car, drove off the road, his car crashing into a guard rail. The accident occurred on Anaheim road near the Santa Ana river bridge.

John Rink, 37, route 3, Santa Ana, possibly owes his life to the quick action of Santa Ana police who last night rendered emergency first aid treatment following an accident in the 600 block on South Sycamore street, Santa Ana. When officers arrived at the scene, they found Mr. Rink lying on the sidewalk, bleeding from a deep cut on his neck and facial lacerations.

Officer L. H. Nicholson, on reaching Mr. Rink, presented loss of blood which might have caused the victim's death, stemming the flow until doctors could give him attention. All officers of the Santa Ana police department have taken training under the Red Cross as first aid experts. Mr. Rink, according to police reports, had been driving a car which crashed into a parked car registered to J. A. Randall, 403 East Twentieth street, Santa Ana. Mr. Rink was taken to St. Joseph's hospital and later to the Orange county hospital where he is being held on a drunk charge.

Other Crashes

Mrs. Ethel Schimberg, 34, Hollywood, was injured at 6 p. m. yesterday when a car driven by her husband, Charles Schimberg, 28, collided with a car driven by James O. Davis, 43, of 608 Minter street, Santa Ana. The accident occurred at Santa Ana boulevard and North Main street. Mrs. Schimberg was taken to St. Joseph's hospital for treatment.

Felipe Paradez, 36, of 317 West Santa Ana street, Anaheim, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff G. F. McKelvey at 10 p. m. yesterday following an accident on the coast highway near Sunset Beach. Deputy McKelvey had stopped at a cafe where he found the defendant allegedly drunk. He placed Paradez in his car, telling him to wait there until he looked in the cafe to see whether Paradez had a companion. When the deputy returned to the street, he saw the car speeding down the highway. He and Deputy John Ryan started in pursuit, and saw Paradez make a "U" turn in the highway, crashing into a car driven by L. E. Orr, Los Angeles. No one was injured in the collision.

MORE ABOUT PRISON SITE

may be more than 100 names on it before it is completed.

It was rumored today that a number of local persons who had signed petitions or letters in favor of the local site had changed their view after looking into the matter more fully, and are now opposed to the prison project.

No local petition is being circulated against the proposition, but it is understood that if it becomes necessary to start one in order to prove the majority of the people don't want a penitentiary here, this action will be taken.

500 Opposed at Mesa
At Costa Mesa a petition already has been circulated, opposing the prison proposal, and 500 names have been secured. It was reported today there is a demand for more petitions there among persons who have not signed the first one.

The prison site committee charged with selecting a site is scheduled to meet tomorrow. Assemblyman Speaker Edward Craig of Brea, a member of the committee, said last week there would be no selection of a site tomorrow.

Mr. Craig recently warned Orange county citizens who are opposed to locating the prison here, that they should make their opposition known in no uncertain terms immediately. The committee, he said, is reluctant to give up the local site and is not convinced the majority of the Orange county people are opposed to the project.

There has been considerable misunderstanding about the attitude of Costa Mesa regarding the site. The first news from there said officers and directors of the chamber of commerce had signed a letter favoring it. Later it developed that there is widespread opposition to the prison, as evidenced by the 500 signatures on the petition.

Air Pilot Before Motorist

The story of the babe who ran before he walked was bettered at Palo Alto, Calif., when Vincent Klevesahl made a successful solo flight after only an hour and 32 minutes of instruction on his sixteenth birthday, which made him eligible for air lessons. He had been the mascot of the Palo Alto airport since he was 12 but was not permitted to take the controls himself. Now that he's a pilot, the youth intends to qualify for an automobile driver's license too. (Associated Press Photo)

Local Debaters High in Contest

LaVonne Frandson and Audrey Granas, representing Santa Ana High school, placed among the first five debate squads in competition with high school orators at Redlands university Friday and Saturday. They were defeated in semi-finals of the two-day tournament by Bakersfield debaters.

June Blodgett and Bill Keeton comprised a second team representing the local student body, defeating Beverly Hills and Bakersfield squads before being eliminated. Debate Coach John Swarthout accompanied the quartet to Redlands.

NEW TEST FOR PACT LOOMS

SACRAMENTO, April 20. (AP) R. W. Gray, manager of the fresh deciduous tree fruit marketing agreement, which was held unconstitutional by Superior Judge Malcolm C. Glenn, said today he will seek relief in the federal courts if there are future violations.

Judge Glenn ruled yesterday the United States supreme court decision of January voiding the AAA processing tax was broad enough to nullify all marketing agreements operating under license of the secretary of agriculture.

He explained the decision involves only the shipment of fruit from California to other states and does not touch on the other provisions of California's "Little AAA" which yesterday was declared unconstitutional by the Orange county superior court.

The decision was in a test brought by the California tree fruit marketing agreement against Jerry Buckley and Guy Earl, of the Earl Orchard company, which last year shipped five cars of pears outside the state without ordering the cars stopped at a concentration point.

Under the marketing agreement, now nullified, the cars should have been held at the concentration point until the pear commodity of the federal marketing agreement ordered their release.

Judge Glenn pointed out his decision was based solely upon the 1935 agreement and does not affect the 1926 agreement which is being prepared.

Seams of Yorba Linda. Mrs. Sam Kraemer, jr., of Placentia is planning the affair.

Emerald Bay beckoned to a party of Santa Ana girls Saturday, and off to Mrs. Edwin Baird's cottage, "Swastika," went members of Ashmore circle, W. W. G. of the First Baptist church.

OFFICER FINDS AUTO STRIPPED

California Highway Patrolman Horace Inge, while on patrol duty yesterday morning, found a car parked near the side of the road a short distance from Buena Park. Two of the wheels were missing and from tracks in the vicinity the officer came to the conclusion that a truck had been backed up to the car and was loaded with equipment stolen from the automobile.

A check of the license number revealed that the car was registered to H. T. Keele, Garden Grove. Mr. Keele had reported the car stolen Saturday afternoon.

Nudists Object to Sally's Competition

Nudists and fan dancers have a broad expanse of bare skin in common, but otherwise they just don't seem to get along at the San Diego exposition. "Unfair," cried the sun-browned inhabitants of the Zoro nudist colony as Mary Pomeroy, stormy petrel of the group, urged her comrades to picket and otherwise hamper attendance at Sally Rand's free fan dancing performances. The Sidewalk Spectator: 'ADOPT A SNAKE' MOVE NOW Pets in Capital's Families

To The Journal: There is an old story about the proprietor of an eating "jert" who was being tried on a charge of using horse meat in his barbecues, though he was advertising it as rabbit. He had admitted using "half horse and half rabbit," but when asked to give the exact proportions, he said he used "one horse to one rabbit."

Now The Spectator hasn't asked more than 250 or 300 people how they feel about the state locating a prison here, but, with the exception of three people, the reply in each case has been "NO!" Of the three, one laughed as he said, "My dad has some property out there he hopes to sell." The other two said they didn't care one way or another.

But a cross section of business men, police, councilmen, taxpayers, etc. here is almost unanimously against a state prison in this locality. It's a proportion of about one horse to one rabbit—"NO!"

Glenn L. Thorne, The Sidewalk Spectator.

WASHINGTON, April 20. (AP)—A popular "adopt a snake" movement may soon be under way in the capital if lovers of reptiles as pets have their way.

"Why not?" asked Miss Doris M. Cochran, assistant curator of reptiles at the Smithsonian institute. "People have been doing it for 100 years."

Dr. William M. Mann, director of the National Zoological park, was quick to second her suggestion.

"Snakes," he said, "can be very interesting pets and very nice ones, too."

Miss Cochran said there are several books on the subject of reptiles for pets.

Dr. Mann said he knew of "at least 25 persons" in Washington who have snakes as pets.

"They are extremely devoted," he said, "are interesting, many of them pretty and they don't require much attention."

Compared with a dog or a rat, he explained, they require far less food and if treated right seldom get sick.

"I wouldn't advise beginners to start with rattlers, or copperheads," he said. "If you get nervous or self-conscious around them, they might get that way too and things could become unpleasant."

He suggested starting off with a garter or king snake and after getting accustomed to them, then branch out.

Jack Salverson
Blow to Stars
Barrel Bottom

Orange county baseball followers had another home town product to watch in the Coast league circuit today.

He is Jack Salverson, 22-year-old ex-Fullerton boy, who today joined the mound staff of the Los Angeles Angels. The Angels, you may have noticed, are the only team in professional baseball just now that look worse than Connie Mack's Philadelphia "A's".

Respected, right-handed, 6 ft. 1 in., 150-pound Jack leaves the Chicago White Sox, who weren't using him much, for a job of regular duty with the fallen Angels. He has long wanted to play with the L. A. club where he will have a chance to cash in on his most redeeming feature — remarkable pitching ability under the arcs. Little night work is done in the big leagues.

Now a resident of Long Beach, Salverson is first payment on a deal just completed between the Angels and Sox which sent Third Baseman Steve Mesner to the windy city club, for 1937 delivery.

While training with the Sox in Pasadena this spring, Salverson told officials he wanted to work with the Angels. He was drafted from Sacramento last year by the Pittsburgh Pirates who used him only in relief roles. The Sox got him via the waiver route.

With Pittsburgh, where he was a team-mate of Fullerton's Arky Vaughan, he took part in only five games, pitched seven innings and was charged with one defeat.

Used more regularly by Jimmy Dykes, his stock went up. He participated in 20 games with the American leaguers, pitching a total of 67 innings for one win and two defeats and an earned-run average of 4.84. He struck out 22 and passed 23.

Angel routers look for him to help bridge the gap left by the injury to Fay "Scow" Thomas.

Wrestling promoters are going down to the bottom of the barrel for publicity—not the local promoters, but the big time boys.

In Los Angeles Olympic Auditorium attaches announce that Hans Steinke is ready to demand a "showdown" from the various title holders. To prove he is a contender, Steinke will wrestle three Jewish grapplers in a 20-minute time limit match. The fodder are Baron Binny Ginsberg, Dr. Fred Meyers and Herb Freeman.

Tough blow to Santa Ana's Stars, losing Lyle Morse. Crying need of the Stars last year was for staunch relief. For Gunner Jimmy Coates. In spring exhibitions Morse had Manager George Lackaye chucking to himself, but the Porterville mob, apparently unable to sprout any good pitchers of their own, got him. They tried, and almost did, get Coates earlier. Joe Rodgers says the boys who jump this circuit for the northern loop are making an unwise move, but Morse has "gone and done it."

SAINT NINE TO PLAY TIGERS

Lewis Olivias will be on the mound for Santa Ana's Saints in their practice baseball clash with Valencia's Tigers of the Orange County league at Placentia tomorrow afternoon. Clyde Cook's local prope enters in Monday here Wednesday in further preparation for their Coast league test with Alhambra at Poly field Friday afternoon.

A. A. Baroni, owner of Top Row, missed most of the Tanforan meeting owing to automobile accident injuries.

Chewaki, Mat Villain, Is Favored Over Daviscourt

GYPSY HEAVY TO HEADLINE MAT SHOW

Jui-Jitsu Match Also Billed For Local Wrestling Menu

Prime villainy returns to the Highway 101 arena's weekly wrestling show tonight in the person of Chief Chewaki, wild-eyed "gypsy" who has made fans in Southern California forget all about Ernie Dusek, Wes Willie Davis and other exponents of foul means in professional wrestling.

Chewaki's four-star reputation makes him favored to wallop Daviscourt.

Chewaki takes on Dirty Dick Daviscourt, tried and proven stumbling block, who has made no small number of enemies in several heated appearances here. His last performance was against Strangler Lewis, when he made that erstwhile champion look very ineffective. He has wrestled and defeated most of the big shots here.

One-Time Boxer

A few years ago Chewaki was making a meager living by boxing under the name of Gypsy Daniels. Then wrestling called him. He saw in wrestling a great chance to display the showmanship and color which the rigid rules of boxing kept locked up inside his huge chest.

Believing that he hated all white men to the death, Gypsy Daniels picked up the name of Chewaki, donned a pair of trunks and set out on a stormy but profitable path of destruction among the Southland's heavyweight wrestlers.

Twice his "showmanship" has brought him forced retirement. Once he was suspended for tossing a water glass, a fire extinguisher and a stool at an opponent, with commendable accuracy, and sending him to the hospital. A few months ago the state moguls ruled him out after he had attempted to strangle Gino Garibaldi with a wire coat hanger.

Jui-Jitsu Match

More color is indicated for tonight's show in the jui-jitsu bout between Mitsui Hamanaka, newest Japanese star, who has made a big hit here, and Firpo Wilcox.

Other supporting bouts for tonight find George Kondilis mixing with Tony Felice and Jerry Monohan, the Irish roughneck, facing Billy Bartosh.

NEW YORK, April 20. (AP)—With fingers hopefully crossed, the United States Lawn Tennis association has omitted the name of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody from the Wightman cup team which will defend the Women's International tennis trophy at Wimbledon, England, June 12-13. Plans were laid, however, to make a place for the "comeback" of the courts if she is available.

The team, announced today, is composed of Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Cal., America's top-ranking player; Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabry of Cambridge, Mass.; Carolyn Bates of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Marjorie Gladman Van Ryn of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Moody has given no indication whether she will be available for the team, but she has hinted she will take part in the Wimbledon championships soon after the Wightman Cup matches, as well as the United States championships at Forest Hills, and thus may be on hand for the international competition.

Miss Jacobs has been living in London for several months. The other members of the team are scheduled to sail May 20 in charge of Mrs. James S. Cushman, who will cooperate in directing play. They will return about July 7.

Frank Shellenback, manager of the San Diego Padres, has used the same baseball glove for 16 years.

PALM SPRINGS.—The inaugural Palm Springs Women's invitation golf tournament was to start today, with many leading Southern California female players competing. Three days have been designated for the 36 holes of medal play.

60 Golfers Left in Country Club Tourney

Sixty of the original field of 84 linksmen still looked forward today to winning the 1936 President's cup to be donated by Col. M. B. Wellington of the Santa Ana Country club.

Twenty-four golfers met bitter elimination as the result of a busy week-end of divot-digging.

Second-round matches must be completed by next Sunday afternoon, Caddyman Burnett Lane said today.

Saturday's best ball sweepstakes winners: Lew Wallace and W. W. (Bill) Foote, 73-9-64; R. E. Gray and E. Wilson, 72-7-65; M. B. Lacy and L. J. Bushard, 76-10-66.

Trojan Trackmen Loom As Yankee Olympic Material

LOS ANGELES, April 20. (AP)—The next engagement of University of Southern California's Olympic-minded track and field aggregation, a meet next Saturday with University of California at Los Angeles, should be a great day for the Bruins, except the Bruins of U. C. L. A.

Victorious by topheavy scores over the strong University of California and the Redskins of Stanford in their two appearances this season, the men of Troy must necessarily look to the Bruin date as a mere workout.

The pupils of the good—and cagey—Dean Cromwell are not only Olympic-minded, but showed by performances against Stanford two days ago that they are serious look to bowl over any one that gets between them and a shot at Olympic games competition.

The good Dean Cromwell, provided he can arrange to pay his own expenses from Los Angeles to New York, is slated to be an assistant mentor to Uncle Sam's track delegation to Berlin.

The United States Olympic committee said it would pay his expenses abroad, but that he would have to pay his own freight across this country.

Cromwell hasn't decided what he will do, but if he goes, there are several worthy Trojans who are determined to accompany him, not only for company's sake, but as Yankee performers.

Several athletes stood out among the Cromwell stars in the Stanford meet. For the second time in his career, Phil Cope equalled the world's record Percy Beard set in 1931 in running the 120-yard high hurdles in 14.2 seconds.

Cope, with his running mate, Roy Staley, who chased him in last year's race, tied in the 120's last June in 14.2.

In the discus Saturday, Kenny Carpenter gave forth a heave of 165 feet, 11 inches. It wasn't anywhere near a world record, but it was better than his 1935 A. A. U. national championship toss of 158 feet, 11½ inches.

"Things can't go on like this for too long. Saturday I am like the fellow who loses money on every customer, but makes it up through the volume of his business.

I take that Beatem to a terrible cleaning, but I lose dough doing it. All told I lose $1.80 for the day, after I take a long lead on the first three nags.

In the first Moon Rose wins, In Chancery places in the second, and Greenspring Lad wins the third, which is how I bet. But that is where I stop. From there on in nobody wins, although they all scratch Coldstream and Torolee and probably save that Beatem great confusion. So I bet 36 fish and win 34 bucks 20.

One thing—I fix up my head-ache, I pick them so good I can hardly help being out in front from now on. That Beatem had better look to his laurels. Do you see where he bets a terrific lot of goats Saturday and most of them are still running around that funny track?

Glass Out to Kayo Le Mon Friday

Hugh Glass, James J. Jeffries' heavyweight, who stands six-foot-four and is one of the most awkwardly-clever heavyweights in the amateur ranks, thinks he will be the first fighter to kayo Lupe LeMon of Fullerton.

Glass and LeMon clash in the feature round fight Friday night at the Orange County Athletic club. They boxed on the same card at the Los Angeles Olympic last Monday night, both winning.

Promoter Sampon had arranged to feature LeMon this week and when he learned that Glass was gunning for Lupe he immediately signed the Jeffries star.

"LeMon has never been kayoed," said Sampon "and I don't think Glass or any other amateur can do it."

SOX, INDIANS GET IN WAY OF TIGERS

Mickey's Men Finding Path Tough; Rowe Shows Hot Form

By ANDY CLARKE
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Cleveland Indians and the Boston Red Sox are showing a total disregard for the prediction of experts that Detroit is destined to repeat its triumphant march of last year.

Six days along the way, each with four games won and one lost, these teams are providing definite grounds for the contention that a rocky road beckons the mighty men of Cochrane. The Red Sox haven't had to use a relief hurler yet and Bob Grove and Wes Ferrell have started off in a manner to make rival managers wrinkle their brows. The Indians haven't gained good pitching thus far, for the batsmen have settled issues on pure offensive power.

The speedy progress of these two teams in the American League and the Giants in the National League has caused the respective experts to their responsibilities. Detroit barged into the win column with Schoolboy Rowe pitching a 5-0 shutout over the Chicago White Sox while the Cubs, with Chuck Klein belting out a brace of homers, collected 16 hits for a 16-6 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Rowe allowed the White Sox only five hits as he scored his second shutout of the season.

Three Saints Advance In Southland Tennis Tourney

Tennis activity was a-buzz at Santa Ana High school today, with three Saints—Bob (Red) Blake, Norman Miller and Fred Pimental—being lauded for a fine showing in the Southern California Class C tournament as Coach Clyde Patton's varsity prepared for Alhambra here tomorrow afternoon.

Blake more put out three opponents in singles of the Southern California Class C tournament at the Harvard Military academy courts in Los Angeles Saturday, and the Saint doubles team of Miller and Pimental advanced to the semifinals with two victories. Results:

Singles—Blake (SA) def. Katz (LA), 6-4, 7-5; Miller (SA) def. Schroeder (Glendale), 7-5, 2-6, 8-6; Blake (SA) def. Goodman (Marshall), 8-6, 6-2, 6-2. The Santa Ana net star will play Rouzer of Whit-

Leadout Boys to Race At County Dog Track Tonight

Those young gentlemen, the leadout boys at Orange County Downs greyhound racing track, will steal the spotlight from the greyhounds tonight when they engage in a furlong race among themselves.

The management is offering substantial prizes to the winners of the race, which will be an added attraction on the program containing the regular schedule of eight races.

No options will be sold on the leadout boys' race, according to the management. However, options may be purchased on all of the greyhound races.

Kennels from all over the nation are taking notice of the Santa Ana track, according to President Judge Leo Quinn. Several owners from Florida and Massachusetts as well as from northern California are sending greyhounds here. Latest arrival is Earl Norton from Florida with his racing string which includes Buffing Off and other well-known greyhounds.

Special attractions will feature the week's program, announced R. B. Rawlins, general manager. The famous monkey "jockeys" are expected to perform on their mounts sometime during the week. Arrangements are now being made with Rennie Renfro, animal trainer and owner of the monkeys, which have been seen on tracks throughout the United States.

Huskies Crew Set For Olympic Bid

By FRANK G. GORRIE
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

SEATTLE, April 20.—The University of Washington crew challenges the world.

The mighty Huskies have issued warning they are out to win the national rowing championship at Poughkeepsie, and the Olympic games this summer.

They began laying plans today for Poughkeepsie, their next racing place, following their record-breaking triple triumph over the powerful California Bears in the 33rd annual Pacific Coast dual regatta on wind-swept Lake Washington here Saturday.

Beating the veteran national champions of California in the fastest time ever rowed on the big lake, the Washington varsity eight became perhaps the outstanding crew threat of the country.

Even though the Bears traveled fast enough to break all three course records, they trailed far behind the high-gear shells of Washington. The Huskies won the three-mile varsity by three lengths in 15 minutes 56.4 seconds.

California rowed the race in 16:08. The old record for the present course was 16:33.4. The fastest time ever before made on the lake was 15:58, over an old course, 14 years ago.

The Bears have captured the last three Poughkeepsie regattas and the last two Olympic events, but they have a hard time beating Washington in the coast meets.

The Huskies have won four straight varsity races, two suc-

IN LONG RACE

LOS ANGELES.—Blue Boy, Pacific Coast champion express cruiser, will be entered in all probability in the 374 mile race from Long Beach to San Francisco in mid-summer, Carl Goetz, owner-navigator, said today.

Fans Flock to Oaks; Angels Keep Cellar

The unbeatable Oaks rolled over San Diego for their fourth consecutive series since the opening of the Pacific Coast League season.

And the fans like it. The best Oakland crowd of the season—12,500—saw the A's win the series, 5 games to 2, by taking Sunday's double-header, 6-2, 3-2.

A tactical error of Frank Shellenback, spittingball Padre manager, cost San Diego the first game when he let himself pitch too long. He held the A's for four hits for seven innings, then went to pieces, and Oakland tallied five times on five hits in the eighth. Rod La Rocca allowed the Padres only five safeties in the short outplay.

Boy Joyce of Los Angeles won the week's prettiest mound duel when he bested Hobo Carson of Portland, 2 to 1, in the seven-inning second game after the Beavers ran wild to win the opener from the Angels, 9-3.

Carson allowed only three hits, but one was a circuit drive by Marvin Gudat in the first inning and the other was a single by Jimmy Reese in the seventh to drive in the deciding run. The Beavers took the series, 5 games to 1.

LACKAYE NINE TRAVELS TO TEST S.B.

San Bernardino Will Be Met on Neutral Field Of Colton Tonight

Santa Ana's stock on the National Nightball league market, rising to new heights with every exhibition victory, took a sharp nose-dive today with the disheartening news that George Lackaye's Stars had lost their new pitching "find," Lyle Morse.

Lured by an attractive offer from Porterville, the slender "stunt" chucker today had joined the San Joaquin Valley league nine, thereby severing relations with Santa Ana, and passing up his job as playground director in the county recreation department.

Morse returned yesterday from a conference in Porterville, and informed Manager Lackaye of his decision to "jump" the Stars for what he described as an opportunity to earn more money.

Jimmy Coates, ace of the Santa Ana mound staff, will draw the assignment against San Bernardino on the Colton field at 8 o'clock tonight.

Ben (Bono) Koral, catcher Clarence (Nan) Coats, 1b; George Preble, 2b; Francis Conrad, ss; Tommy Young, 3b; Tom Denney or Tom Lacy, if Al Rebohn, cf, and Ray (Doc) Smith, rf, will be in the Santa Ana lineup that tries to solve the slants of Bob (Lefty) Fowler, who was impressive in extending the Stars, 3-3, in a recent 11-inning tussle here.

Saint Trackmen Meet L. B. Poly Tomorrow

Realizing victory is far out of their reach, Santa Ana High school's varsity trackmen will strive for improvement in their pet events against Long Beach Poly's title-bound Jackrabbits on Burmah field, Long Beach, tomorrow afternoon.

The Saints, Coach Reece H. Greene believes, are capable of first places in the pole vault and high jump with Leonard Stafford, 12 ft. 3 in. vaulter, and Captain Blas Mercurio, who scales between 5'10 and 6'2 in the high jump. Semmens, vaulter, and Lippincott, high jumper, are Long Beach's most threatening in these events.

Relative strength of the Saint and Jackrabbit varsities is clearly shown through Santa Ana's 80-33 victory over Santa Ana and Long Beach's 59-10; 53-13; win from San Diego. Alhambra also beat the Saints, 70-56.

Byram Bates, blond sensation who holds three all-time Saint records, should cut a fancy figure in Class C competition. He has broadjumped 20 ft. 9 in., high-jumped 6 ft. 4 in. and run the 120-yard high hurdles in 14.7 sec. Larry Dresser, pole vaulter; Fred Pimental, hurdler; Junior Mulvihill, Bobby Newton and Dick Stein are other competent lightweight.

Santa Ana's best in Class B are Dalton Lutz, sprinter; Dearing Waggoner, 660; Herschel Whitney, 1320; Dwight Nott, hurdler; and Mitsui Nitta, Nathan Levens, Wendell Tedrow and Gaebie in the field events.

H.B. RIVERSIDE TILT CANCELED

Illness of several players has forced Riverside of the American league to cancel its nightball engagement with Huntington Beach's Southern California nightball champions tomorrow night. Manager Joe Rodgers has filled the date with the Black and White Taxi company, Long Beach independent nine.

MAJOR PARTIES' CHIEFS TO LAY CONVENTION PLANS THIS WEEK

G.O.P HEADS TO GATHER TUESDAY

Will Pick Officers For June Session; Demos To Meet Saturday

WASHINGTON, April 20. (AP)—Leaders of both major parties gave sharp attention today to the approaching national conventions and to the job of picking the key men for the big political shows of June.

The Republican and Democratic committees on arrangements both meet today at Philadelphia and are expected to pick all important convention officers. Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the majority leader, is generally expected to be permanent chairman, while Governor Earle of Pennsylvania and McNutt of Indiana are prominently mentioned as possible choice for keynoter.

Many observers expect Senator Wagner (D., N. Y.) to be named to make the address renominating President Roosevelt.

While the leaders planned their strategy, the campaign wars continued to rage.

Senator Norris (R., Neb.), supporter of the President, declared in a statement that Mr. Roosevelt "stands out as an ideal statesman, able and competent to solve the difficult problems of state which now confront our leaders."

Norris endorsed a move initiated by Paul Best, former president of the District of Columbia Young Democrats, to organize "first voters" behind the President's campaign for re-election. The senator said "one of the hopeful signs of our political situation is the interest which is being taken in the country's welfare by the young men and women of the nation."

A new attack on the administration came from the American Liberty League, which said in a statement that "vituperation, persecution and abuse alone have been used to combat unanswerable facts and logic" offered by the league.

The organization appealed for concerted opposition to any curtailment of the courts' powers by legislation or constitutional amendment.

Mrs. H. A. Moomaw entertained at a very pleasant dessert bridge party Saturday afternoon in the Doris Kathryn tearoom. She centered the long dessert table with pastel sweet peas, whose dainty tints were echoed in tiny pink and yellow nutbaskets marking the places.

Using a novel plan of awarding prizes, Mrs. Moomaw distributed some 10 gift awards, including main prizes to Mrs. Chester Horton and Mrs. Edward Lee Russell.

Other guests included Mesdames Milo K. Tedstrom, R. Carson Smith, Newell Moore, Joe Herschler, John Lacy Taylor, Roscoe Tomkin, Aubrey Glines, M. M. Bryte and John H. Ebersole.

Frank P. Rowe was re-elected secretary of the Citrus Belt U. S. W. V. club yesterday at a picnic in Brookside park, Pasadena. Comm. James A. Randel and President Hazel Hall headed the Calumit camp and auxiliary delegation. Approximately 1000 persons attended and voted in the annual elections.

William Winders was elected president, and Sam A. Selemcan, vice president. Both belong to camps in Los Angeles.

Next meeting of the club was voted to go to Pomona, on Flag day. No picnic will be held in May because of encampment.

Members of the camp, auxiliary, their families and friends from Calumit were: Messrs. and Mesdames U. Sherman Glaze, Frank P. Rowe, James A. Randel, Alfred H. Hall, Marriot C. Cooper, William H. Morrill, W. R. Du Bois, Henry Helmer, K. T. Du Bois, Walter A. Procter, H. O. Jackson and Milton R. Kellogg; Messrs. Charles E. Dixon, Walter W. Tantlinger, Arthur F. Hammond, Charles C. Cozad, W. J. The Citrus Belt U. S. W. V. club is an association of about 52 units of camps, auxiliaries, lairs of the M. O. S. and swamps of the M. O. L., the latter two being fun orders for the men and women, respectively. About eight picnics are held each year in Southern California parks.

HAUPTMANN'S INNOCENCE CLAIMED

Chicago Lawyer Says Arrest Is Near For 'Real Kidnapers'

CHICAGO, April 20. (AP)—Arrest of the "real kidnapers" of the Lindbergh baby "within several weeks at the most" was predicted today by Bernard J. Finnigan, young Chicago lawyer who said he was taking part in Gov. Harold G. Hoffman's investigation of the case.

After flying home from the East Sunday with a claim to discovery of a hidden cache of $5000 of the kidnap "ransom money," Finnigan declared "solution" of the case "may be only a few hours away."

"Any one of several expected breaks may precipitate the case at any moment," he said in an interview.

"Hauptmann innocent" Finnigan asserted Governor Hoffman of New Jersey now has evidence showing that Bruno Richard Hauptmann, executed for the child's death, was "a positively innocent man."

"A number of other people" were the kidnap plotters, the lawyer added, explaining he "couldn't say why" he thought so "without saying too much."

He insisted that the "ransom money" he said he uncovered in New York state "with the aid of a client, Stephen Spitz, would 'unquestionably' lead to a cleanup of the case."

Spitz, a convicted forger who left jail here to seek the money, said he had "bought" it in Trenton, N. J., for 40 cents on the dollar. Finnigan said it was "available" to Hoffman. He said "a lot more" ransom bills "will be produced."

"Kid Ransom Bills" Finnigan and Spitz left Chicago April 1. The lawyer returned today alone. He traveled under an assumed name. He said "friends of the governor" got Spitz out of jail here by paying an $892 balance of a $1000 fine against Spitz. Spitz claimed to have bought the ransom money from two men named "Adolph Blaustein" and "Fred Menk" in August, 1934. He said he then claimed he hid it.

Finnigan said he told Spitz story to justice department agents and the New Jersey attorney general "as early as March, 1935" with no result.

GOLDEN WEDDING INCENTIVE FOR FAMILY DINNER

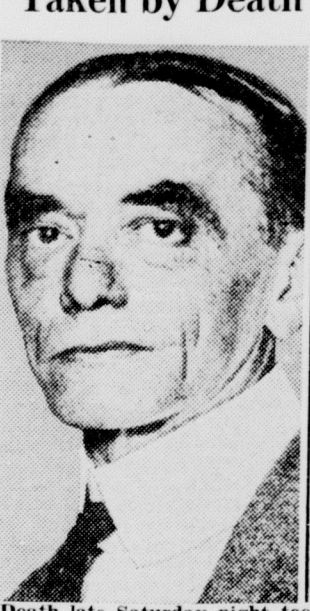

The golden wedding day of Mr. and Mrs. George Lentz, 824 North Sycamore street, which is today, prompted a gala family dinner given in the private dining room of the Dixie Castle yesterday.

The couple's children, N. E. Lentz of Encinitas, Edgar and Robert Lentz and Mrs. S. I. Preble were present with their families.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lentz (Minnie Thornburg) were married in Winchester, Ind., and he was in the government service there until coming to Santa Ana 31 years ago. ADVISER OF PRESIDENT SUCCEUMBS

Rites For Howe to Be Held Tomorrow At The White House

WASHINGTON, April 20. (AP)—In the White House, where he lived as one of the family, funeral rites will be held tomorrow for Louis McHenry Howe, friend and political adviser of President Roosevelt.

Leaders of the government and old friends will gather at 4 p. m. in the East room to honor the memory of the counselor who stood at the elbow of Mr. Roosevelt throughout his rise from a New York state senatorship to the nation's highest office. Pair Inseparable

Through success, failure and near-tragedy, they were inseparable. Howe was with Mr. Roosevelt when the latter was assistant secretary of the navy in the Wilson administration; advised him in the unsuccessful drive for the vice presidency in 1920, encouraged him through the attack of infantile paralysis, and was in the inner councils during the 1932 campaign.

++ County Landmarks ++ Patterson Bowers Was First to Plant Oranges in Orange County

(In an effort to acquaint residents of Orange county with some of their most-prized historic possessions, The Journal is publishing a series of daily articles on county landmarks. These articles will describe their location and give historical facts concerning them. Today's article tells about Orange county's first Orange grove.)

"It is generally agreed that the first orange orchard in Orange county was planted in 1873 by Patterson Bowers," says the Pleasant's history of Orange county.

"The location was two miles east of Orange, near Santiago creek on the south side of what is now Walnut avenue."

Although this location is not marked, or recognized by the state in its landmark registry, it is of importance to Orange county, which gets in prosperity largely from the citrus industry.

"The first orchard in the northern part of the county was planted by R. H. Gillman of the Semi-Tropic Fruit company at Placentia," the history continues.

"He put out 40 acres in 1875, the largest planting at that time. These trees received no regular irrigation until water was obtained from the Santa Ana river in 1879."

"This orchard was at the corner of what is now Chapman and Placentia avenues. Some of the trees are still bearing."

The early Spaniards planted the first oranges in California, using seeds brought from Mexico. The first commercial planting was made by William Wolf-skill on Alameda street, Los Angeles, where the Southern Pacific station now stands. The forbear of the modern navel orange was planted by Mrs. Tibbetts at Riverside in 1874. The tree is still alive.

British air officers were understood to have insisted that in case of an alarm they could immediately use Belgian aviation fields, either civil or military. The Intransigent said new Belgium air fields would be prepared rapidly.

PARK BENEFIT SEEN IN OIL RESTRICTION

Initiative Measure to Allow Whippstocking May Aid Beaches

Orange county was interested today in the relation of the initiative measure providing for whippstock drilling of state tide-land oil to the preservation of its beaches and development of its parks. The measure, to prohibit drilling on beaches, has been sent to the state attorney general's office for titling.

The measure would provide for royalties to the state from such whippstock drilling into state oil pools. Half of this revenue would go to the state park commission for beach and park development.

"Naturally I am in favor of any measure which will bring in revenue to the park system," said William E. Colby, chairman of the state park commission. "And especially for the purpose of adding to the park beaches, which are becoming increasingly essential to recreation, with population congestion."

Officers of the California Beaches association have announced appointment of a committee to devise ways and means of coordinating studies of the problems of beach preservation, restoration and pollution. The group will seek to stimulate further studies of ocean shoreline changes and will act as a reference and steering body.

Members of the committee are: Prof. Morrrough P. O'Brien, University of California, Berkeley; Col. Walter Wilson Crosby, Coronado; Dr. Henry Smith Pritchett, Santa Barbara; Dr. George F. McEwen, Scripps Institution, La Jolla; L. Deming Tilton, director of planning, California state planning board; Lieut. Com. H. B. Campbell, U. S. coast and geodetic survey, Long Beach; Lieut. Comm. The Thinkers

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women

Do you think women should have employment other than in the home?

Mrs. Katherine Stinson: It is an individual question for each woman to settle for herself. If it means that the children will be able to have a better education and enjoy benefits they otherwise could not, I think other employment is desirable. However, each case is under different circumstances, and they must decide for themselves in the individual cases.

Mrs. Guy H. Christian: A mother should never let her children run the streets, even if they must go without bread and butter. A mother's care is necessary for the children, but if the father works at home so that the children are not neglected, a mother could work to earn the extras which the family otherwise could not have.

Mrs. H. C. Leonard: If the family can possibly get along without the money, a mother should not work. If the father already earns enough to support the family, the woman should work at home. But if it is impossible to live on the earnings of the father alone, the woman should seek employment.

Fay Wray Has Clever New Outfits

Fay Wray, Hollywood's most air-minded traveler (she has made four transcontinental flights within the past month) swept in a few days ago from a week-end hop to New York, bursting as usual with interesting odds and ends of style gossip. For the Columbia star combines business with pleasure on each trip; and it is her business as an actress to keep at least a season ahead of the styles.

She reports the purchase of a new dinner costume by Lange—a full skirt of midnight velvet, a wide yellow jacket of corded silver with a tiny waist peplum and semi-leg o' mutton sleeves. The real note of novelty is at the throat. She ties an ascot of colorful Japanese print embroidered in wooden palleites in shades of old rose and French blue, handbag to match.

The star of "Roaming Lady," also reports several other acquisitions. She has, for instance, a dress taking advantage of Molyneux' inspired trick of a bunch of swathed belt; a peck little hat by Patou that is nothing so much as a small hoop affair cocked over the right eye, and with more flower trimming than there is brim, crown and all. But, and this is her prize, a pair of hand-sewn gaudy gloves with a tiny watch set permanently in the cuff.

Shall 'Fence Post' Girl Allow Her Ideals to Be Rearranged to Suit Sweetheart?

By MARY STODDARD

Poignant and more of a problem to young girls than their elders realize is that of "Angel," who models her behavior after that of her old-fashioned mother. Her boy friend calls her a "fence post," because she will not disregard conventions to please him. Dear Miss Stoddard: My sweetheart and I have broken up for the fourth time in the year we have been going together. Each time we are back together in a few months.

Using my mother as a model proves me different from the modern girls, and this caused the break up between myself and my sweetheart.

Do you, for one moment, feel that marriage should be disbanded so that true love should exist? I do not and therefore troubles arise because I am old and different.

My mother thinks I should stay as sweet as can be, but it is the hardest thing in the world to do especially when it is someone you care for but I have done it. Should I continue and have my heart broken?

Many of the young girls today are facing the problem I am. We know men are no angels and not saying the girls are either, but my mother was an angel and I have tried to be like her. Should I change from a fence post, as my sweetheart calls me, to a few degrees higher or should I remain an angel and not let a soul rearrange me?

It is now placed in your hands, as Hamlet says, "To be or not to be that is the question." Sincerely yours, "ANGEL."

Members bring sewing, and knitting, discuss late and interesting books, and enjoy tea before a comfortable open fireplace. Now such books as "The Way of a Transgressor," "I Write as I Please," "South Riding," "Life With Father" and "The Last Puritan" are daily talk on village streets. Here and There With
The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

THE time of year has arrived for nominations to our bar-nacle club—members of which are known for their ability to bring up creatures from the deep—unwanted, unknown or unedible.

Paul Dale, Santa Ana, has entered the ranks of the first Bar-nacle clubbers this year, with reports of a fine catch of surf perch at San Clemente. Another sort of a holdover from the fall, who made a name for himself also at San Clemente is Geoffrey Hamilton, bank manager there, who became a charter member through his feat of capturing two vicious smelt—he hooked one in the eye and the other through the tail.

We were just about ready to nominate Sports Ed Frank Rogers as a member the other night, as his angling antics were productive of nothing save some hard-fighting seaweed, but he saved his name as a sportsman by dragging in a yellowfin just before going home.

We'd like to point out to Elmer Hochstein and Ross Hale, Placentia, two charter members known for their ability as tomcod catchers, that the editorial board was literally covered with corbina the other evening. We say that with a true fisherman's ability to exaggerate—but it was a good-sized fish, anyway.

Any further nominations for membership from county residents will be gladly received. We might dig up a baby seal as a prize for the most outstanding member of the club before the year's out, who knows?

Add best quips of the week: Jim Farquhar, in his Huntington Beach News, says "A country editor is an individual for whom everybody has a great deal of use but no particular respect."

And here, you're going to take something and like it? It's picked up from C. M. Vernon's Yorba Linda Star. We're swiping bits of a weekly letter from Clyde Simmons, former editor, who's now touring the South. Here are some of Clyde's paragraphs:

At Knoxville that night the frogs made endless music, a thunderstorm rumbled and ripped its way across the valley from mountain range to mountain range, just to the north of us, and next morning a half a dozen birds unidentified but familiar in other years—sang early in the night, our cabin home for the night. And we're still on familiar terms with that stage of the springtime that's been with us since Central Texas. Only now its bronze and tan and brown and greenish yellow of budding oaks, the scarlet banners of the maple of the same name—it's taken me a whole day to identify the tree added to redbud and peach blossoms. Yes, I'm getting closer to home.

"North from Knoxville across rivers with names like Clinch, Holston, Nolichucky. Maybe I'm mixing geography, but history is what I'm thinking about now. John Sevier and his party moving over from North Carolina with skulking Cherokees watching from hillside fastnesses. And well may they watch for their own destiny moves with the slowly advancing white men, a destiny that within forty years will take these very watchers themselves and their children westward across Tennessee hills to Memphis and on westward across Arkansas and leave them, unwilling enough, on the open, dusty plains of Oklahoma. It's no pleasant future these red men face here in the triangular hills of western Tennessee where all the streams run clear all the year long and cardinals flit like living flames across one's pathway. A land of game in plenty, of fish and pleasant, leisureed ways."

And then he goes on like this: "At Appomattox the rain falls in torrents. About it is a slightly rolling terrain covered today—as it was upon an April morning in the year 1865—by oaks and maples and dark-leaved short leaf pine. And down a wet, rutted, red clay road like one we've just passed came a riding that April morning two parties of men. One of them was dressed all in gray and was led by a tall, heavy-framed man with gray hair and beard and a face carefully devoid of expression save for mournful grey eyes. The others by a short, dark man with careless stuck into cavalry boots and an ash-flecked blue coat. Tomorrow morning Lee's ragged men will file past blue columns, stack their arms and ride or walk away many of them—to homes long ago in ashes. "Lee's Miserables" someone has aptly dubbed them. Do they still walk here or is that a wisp of drifting mist through those grey tree tunnels?"

"Of Richmond on the James and its environs I shall have more to tell within the next few days. After that will come the northward trek easy to write about. History has been made here for so long. But it isn't home any longer. It is too old, too steeped in its own traditions. Out there we're just making them, you see."

Chapter 28
ROWDY GUESTS
"Please talk to me," said Allan at that moment, abandoning Georgia to her treasure-trove.

Iris laughed at him. "About what, my lord? Art, literature, big-game hunting, or what a darling grandmother you have? I could be particularly enthusiastic about that. Your grandmother's so like people at home she makes me want to spend the evening with her holding her hand."

He smiled. "Granny—Granny's a survival of a past age. Everything she ever cared for is gone, except my mother and me, and I wasn't even the favorite grandson or my mother the favorite daughter, and Mother's usually in Europe. Granny doesn't like my idea of life, you know. She likes 'em earnest-minded and civic."

They laughed together. "I do know. Uncle Will is awfully civic. If they elected a man out of an idiot asylum to be President or even governor, Uncle Will would be respectful and loyal till his term was up. They're rather wonderful, don't you think?"

"Yes—but it can't be an amusing life," said Allan. "Your brother, there, looks like the same sort of person. I hear he's sort of American Captain Molyneux."

Iris hoped it wasn't indiscreet to tell him; he was so gentle and sympathetic. "Yes, that's part of the loyalty. He hates designing, thinks it's effeminate. He's made himself an architect, studying nights, but he does this because Phina did so much for him, so many years. I think he's too loyal. I think people should practice the professions they want and marry the people they like, don't you?"

She leaned to him, unconsciously, glowing and sparkling over the simple words. He looked at her as if he were warming himself in her shining personality.

"I wonder if you know what an incredible zest for life you have, Iris or how unusual it is. Promise me you won't let anybody turn it into a symbol, a pep and a pep, I need it too much the way it is."

He laughed as he finished. "Be nice to Granny. If you pass (I am betraying Granny, but never mind), your aunt can have the Woodlands; if not, not. And as it is the only place to be, I'm in the whole of our rather watertight community—" He shrugged his shoulders.

Iris was agast. "Why does it depend on me?"

"Granny has stern ideas about the duties of tenants, eternally set as to the manners of the young. The place is also rather sacred to her because it belonged to Aunt Louise and her son, my cousin, whom she shamefully preferred to my mother and me, and who are both dead. Madame Phina is taking it only for your sake, as I understand."

"No, that's a mistake, I think," Iris shook her head.

"Angel," she said, "listen—this place is going to be full of the gang in about two minutes. Tell the butler to hunt up all the cushions in the house. And the table has to be cleared for the punch and stuff. You ought to have a movable bar, everybody else has. She kissed him.

"Sell it to Granny," said Allan amiably. "You can."

"Here," clamored Dickey as the group streamed back into the front room, "Georgia has to kiss me." He was as usual a little lit; he grabbed for Georgia, got Sigid and Camilla instead, one in each arm, kissed them both indiscriminately. "London Bridge is falling down!" he shouted.

Nobody minded particularly; it was like boisterous children's play for a moment, everyone shrieking with laughter and snatching at everything. "Owen, who had left his wineglass nearly full, drew Sigid from the melee, seized his opportunity to kiss her quietly and closely, and kept her in his arm thereafter till the din died down.

Two Cities—and a Prison Site

NOWHERE in Orange county is the prison farm proposal whipping up more excitement than at Costa Mesa. Hundreds of residents of that thriving coastal community are battling to keep the huge prison colony with its 6,000 convicts from being located next door to their homes. With this thought in mind, comment from leaders and organizations of Costa Mesa is enlightening.

Between 400 and 500 residents of the affected area are reported by Dr. C. G. Huston of Costa Mesa, president of the associated chambers of commerce of Orange county, to have signed a petition worded as follows:

"We, the undersigned citizens and property owners of Costa Mesa, do hereby protest the locating of a prison farm at or near Costa Mesa."

Another strong protest is made editorially by the Costa Mesa Globe. The Globe says in part:

The establishment of such a prison farm would be the death knell to the progress and prosperity of this section of Orange county. For years the beach cities have spent thousands of dollars and devoted time and talent in advertising our cities as the best summer resorts in Southern California, and now this monster in the guise of a state prison farm comes along.

Here are extracts from a letter which George A. Waterman, president of the Newport Heights irrigation district and a resident of the area for 27 years, is sending to the state prison site committee:

"We people of Costa Mesa are deeply concerned over the possibility of a state prison farm being located in our midst.

"For years Costa Mesa and the rest of the south coast of Orange county have enjoyed friendly relations in a business way and otherwise, with Santa Ana. We have understood that the leading citizens of that community were opposed to the prison being placed here; but just recently we have learned that a group of very prominent Santa Ana men are working under cover to induce your committee to purchase the Costa Mesa site.

"We wonder if these Santa Ana men would want a state prison on the outskirts of their own community. We wonder if they were thinking as much about the fine trade relations between the two towns that now exist as they were thinking about immediate personal advantage.

"Santa Ana has always shown a fine spirit toward Costa Mesa in the past and we hope that this same attitude will continue. Costa Mesa wishes to cooperate with Santa Ana as a friend and we believe that the citizens of our community wish this relationship to continue."

Here is a statement from Harold Grauel, president of the Costa Mesa chamber of commerce:

"On March 30 the chamber called a regular meeting for the purpose of ascertaining public sentiment on a prison farm. At that session letters were read showing the operations of prisons in other cities as not being detrimental to those towns, while the sentiment seemed to favor the site here.

"As this consensus of opinion seemed to favor, the directors later called a meeting of their board and passed the resolution of approval. It is not the intention of this body, nor has it ever been, to oppose the wishes of a majority of the people of the community, and if the people do not want such a farm the chamber will certainly not do anything to bring it in."

Mayor T. B. Talbert of Huntington Beach—like the Costa Mesa chamber of commerce directors—at first favored the prison for Costa Mesa, but later learned more about the situation, took a stand against it, and gave the following article to Santa Ana newspapers:

Mayor T. B. Talbert of Huntington Beach, who recently endorsed the proposition, explained today his reasons for so doing and said that, since he had not been completely informed, he wished to withdraw his previous opposition to the project. Mayor Talbert explained that at first it was thought the people of Costa Mesa favored the prison idea and that, since Costa Mesa is a neighbor of Huntington Beach and the prison would be close to it, he did not feel that he should oppose their wishes. Later, he said, it became clear that Costa Mesa people are definitely opposed to the prison proposition, and by the same token he changed his position, Mayor Talbert said.

Here in Santa Ana, too, there has been strong and outspoken opposition toward locating the 6,000 convicts in Orange county.

The Santa Ana chamber of commerce board of directors has issued the following statement:

"Having carefully sounded out the opinion of the business interests and people at large of Santa Ana and vicinity, we are actively and definitely against the location of a state prison and prison farm in any place in Orange county. We respectfully request that any or all actions being taken toward the acquisition of a site in this county be discontinued."

The Santa Ana city council is expected to take a stand against placing the prison in this region. The following quotation is clipped from Saturday's newspaper:

Councilman Plummer Bruns announced he will present a resolution to the city council Monday night condemning the prison location here. He said he had contacted all but one member of the council and they are all strenuously opposed to the penitentiary.

Opposition to the prison site has been expressed by the Santa Ana realty board, as follows:

"Resolved that the Santa Ana Realty board go on record as registering a strong protest against the location in Orange county of the proposed prison site. We believe our growth and prosperity is predicated upon the appeal of our climate, our beaches, and our exceptional residential advantages.

"Our community is county-wide and thickly settled with homes. We believe a prison site would be detrimental and give us constant adverse publicity."

It is true that real estate men with a personal interest in the matter are vigorously trying to promote some Santa Ana support for locating the prison farm near Costa Mesa. And it is true that they have secured a certain number of well-meaning helpers.

But citizens of Santa Ana as a whole, we believe, are wholeheartedly with Costa Mesa, Newport Beach, Laguna Beach, Huntington Beach, the Orange County Coast association, the Parent-Teacher association, the farm bureau, the board of supervisors, the county water district, and others in opposing location of the prison colony here.

They are, in general, set firmly against the importation of 6,000 convicts into this area upon economic, as well as aesthetic grounds. And although admitting that the institution would bring payrolls, they can't overlook the facts that it would be an undesirable neighbor, that property values in the long run would be depressed, and that healthy, normal development would be discouraged.

The evidence convinces us that sentiment in Costa Mesa and Santa Ana against the prison is strong—and is getting stronger

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, April 20—Members of the securities and exchange commission are not saying much about it, but the rapid rise of the stock market is worrying them considerably.

Recently William O. Douglas, newest and most forthright SEC commissioner, called in Frank Meehan, assistant director of the trading division. It is Meehan's job to detect pools or other violations of SEC rules on the stock exchange.

However, Douglas intimated in plain and pointed language that Meehan was not detecting them. The market is way over-priced, Douglas told him, and all sorts of under-cover pools are operating.

"You've got to remember," he concluded, "that when the next crash comes, the SEC is going to be on the spot. We are the commission set up to protect the public, to prevent runaway markets."

"The senate investigation of the Hoover crash will be mild compared with the next investigation. And you'll be the star witness. They'll say: 'Just where were you, Mr. Meehan, when such-and-such stocks sky-rocketed? Was it not your job, Mr. Meehan, to be in charge of the trading division? Were you not supposed to prevent pool operations? Just what, if anything, did you do about it?'"

Not long afterwards, Meehan resigned. He is now occupying desk space in the office of George Breen, one of the manipulators of the famous Sinclair oil pool, which during the days of the Coolidge boom market netted the participants a clear $12,000,000 without their putting up a cent.

A very delightful as well as profitable meeting of the Crescent Embroidery club was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. W. Leisser, 1622 North Baker street. The following were present at the meeting: Mesdames

Roy Lancaster, D. B. Ramsey, J. C. Kirby, David Ross, J. Pearson, George Ross, C. M. Marshall, U. J. Ross and S. P. Reynolds.

Mrs. J. G. Morrow entertained her Sunday school class at her home yesterday. The evening was spent in sewing. Those who were present at the enjoyable affair were Misses Jessie Bicklow, Phoebe Kinner, Gussie Shelby, Myrtle Reeves, Hazel Rowley, Nellie Bacon, Florence Doig, Nettie Nuning, Kate Kelly, Nancy and Cary Elder, Louise and Gertrude Montgomery and Gladys Beckett.

Mrs. M. A. Patton and little daughter, Thelma, took the 9:30 car for Los Angeles this morning.

A delightful little dinner party was given this evening by Mr. and Mrs. John Avas at their new home on West Fifth street. The remainder of the evening following dinner was spent at bridge. Those in the dinner party were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Columbus Wise, and Mr. and Mrs. George McPhee.

Under the warm glow of many orange shaded candles, the long tables spread for the banquet of the Orange County Bankers association at the Odd Fellows hall last night, presented a most inviting picture. Following the banquet, Toastmaster W. E. Bedford made a few very clever remarks concerning those who were to respond to toasts. Those who responded were S. C. Crookshank, C. H. Wallace, T. B. Talbert, W. A. Zimmerman, E. M. Blake, J. Allen Knapp, C. E. French, and the last but not least, Harry L. Hanson.

"If we had to have a flood," he said, "I'm glad it was the biggest one. I'm tired of hearing the old boys talk about the flood of '84."

An old-timer, seated nearby at a table, turned around and said, "Well this might be the biggest flood we ever had, but by jimmies, there was more driftwood in the '84 flood!"

To the Editor: This is to thank you for the opportunity given local journalism students to edit The Journal last Thursday. We are also grateful for the editorial expression in Friday's issue.

From comments heard on the campus and about town, I feel that both The Journal and junior college and high school profited from the undertaking.

Please know that we deeply appreciate your kindness for making the student venture possible. John Rabe, editor for the day, and his staff, join me in saying "thank you" to City Editor Ellwanger and every employee of The Journal.

What Other Editors Say

DROWNED DOLLARS

(Christian Science Monitor)

"It is unthinkable that a newspaper which is sincerely devoted to the cause of temperance . . . should at the same time permit its columns to be employed to promote the sale of liquor." You are listening to the voice of the Chicago Daily News, which, with a daily circulation of approximately 500,000, ranks as one of America's leading newspapers.

The News is one of a great company of journals which put principle before profit. A questionnaire sent to the nation's newspapers by the American Business Men's Research foundation asking their stand on the question of liquor advertising brought 796 replies. One hundred and fifty-two state they do not accept liquor advertising of any kind; 275 that they reject advertising of all distilled liquors.

On this honor roll of publications that refuse to take their cut of the profits of the liquor makers and distributors stands the name of Frank Gannett, publisher of a chain newspaper. He tells why:

We feel that the promotion of drinking of alcoholic beverages is not only harmful to society, but it is also injurious to business. Money spent for liquor will not be spent for other things.

Quoting a recent government survey showing a 27 per cent under normal consumption of milk in 59 leading cities, Mr. Gannett continues:

This means that both the farmer and the dairy industry are suffering loss as a result of the destructive competition of the brewer and distiller.

In 1935 the United States' consumption of distilled liquor jumped 32,983,989 gallons over 1934; its consumption of beer, 166,377,524 gallons over 1934. On the other words, a nation, admittedly with millions underhoused, underclothed and undernourished, squandered about $2,500,000,000 for alcoholic drink during 1935, a leap of roughly $428,000,000 over 1934.

Happily public opinion, fast growing more articulate, is behind Mr. Gannett when he declared "that no progress will ever be made against the liquor traffic until advertising of liquor is prohibited."

Without intending to influence a court decision, I hope the newspaper boys gets their money for advertising. I don't know of anyone else who will make me a loan.

The 1936 Valencia export season has started. The domestic season is not expected to get under way until the middle of May. The important feature is that the oranges must be picked and hauled and sorted and packed and that gives employment to many people. As the oranges are sold new money is brought into the country. Skinny Skribbles

Two commiserating souls exchanging experiences with recalcitrant stomachs. One admitted that it was possible an excess of alcohol could have overthrown his digestive machinery, but he didn't think so. They seldom do. The other party to the conversation is a total abstainer and careful of his diet and habits, but he has a stomach that insists on raising the dicky without any apparent provocation. Yes, I know you have a remedy. Once upon a time this same situation confronted me. I was anxious to help two friends. So when all of the remedies were in I just exchanged the remedies and sent them to the sufferers, and they both got well. Some doctor. Am I?

J. W. McCain has moved into a new home on Grant street. He found out something. That after you live in one house for 12 years you have accumulated more household fixin's than you ever dreamed of. Just try and move the few things you think you own and it turns out to be a department store. That's the way it impressed one of Mac's youngsters who exclaimed: "Daddy, you're rich!"

Met a friend Saturday who said he was in a hurry to get home for lunch, but he was headed in the wrong direction.

Called to confer with Wm. Packard, city electrical inspector. He has an office on the second floor of the city hall, but he wasn't in. That's why I'm still searching for him. But a good friend gave me a tip not to try it on Saturday afternoons. The office is closed.

Everything does not happen the way you expect it to. I met a party last week who sold out four times, and he still owns the business. The parties who were going to buy only had conversation, and it wasn't enough.

Lloyd Fuller came down from Canoga Park to visit and talk about oranges. He is with the private department. He owns oranges and sells oranges, is optimistic about the industry and looks for a much better price than last year. Thanks, Lloyd, for the good news. I'll be waiting for my money.

The city installed a signal system at 17th and Main, but a few drivers haven't found it out. Maybe they are waiting for the traffic boys to call their attention to it. An observer tells me that an occasional straggler crashes the signals. Oh, well, the city has done its part. The driver will do his later, or it will cost him something if he forgets.

The frequent lifting of gas prices may cut down the mileage but it won't cut down the miles per gallon. We won't go so many miles. That is for the present. It is human nature to forget and the peeve against the oil companies will in all probability fade from the picture and the old bus will keep rambling along as usual.

Without intending to influence a court decision, I hope the newspaper boys gets their money for advertising. I don't know of anyone else who will make me a loan.
